

Idle and tasteless

- Time limit: 1 second
- Memory limit: 256 MB

Massoud, who is an unemployed and tasteless person, is about to fail one of his college courses. He has solved and delivered some of the exercises given by the professor and knows the scores of those exercises, but he has lost track of their numbers.

Massoud has managed to score 8 in the exam and he wants you to calculate for him whether he will pass or not.

The total points of Master Masoud's exercises are 240 and then they are converted into three points with a linear ratio.

Input

Massoud's exercises are entered in an infinite number of score lines. The end of grades is marked with -1.
